DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Applicant has not complied with one or more conditions for receiving the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120 as follows:

An application in which the benefits of an earlier application are desired must contain a specific reference to the prior application(s) in the first sentence of the specification or in an application data sheet (37 CFR 1.78(a)(2) and (a)(5)). The specific reference to any prior nonprovisional application must include the relationship (i.e., continuation, divisional, or continuation-in-part) between the applications except when the reference is to a prior application of a CPA assigned the same application number. In the instant application, the specification does not provide specific reference to U.S. Application No. 10/099,792, where the instant application is a Continuation of the aforementioned application. Additionally, the current status of both parent applications should be provided.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bayne ('992). Bayne teaches a cervical cytology device 42 including a plurality of elongated flexible bristles 50 of approximately uniform length connected to a handle including an elongated portion 46 and a head portion 48 to form a mop-like sample collecting member. The bristles extend from the head portion in a direction that is substantially parallel to the longitudinal axis of the handle.

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claim 1 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,740,049. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claim of the instant application is merely broader than that of the patent. Both the claim of the patent and the claim of the instant application recite a device for obtaining a sample from a body cavity including a plurality of elongated bristles of approximately uniform length connected to a handle to form a mop-like sample collecting member, where the bristles are disposed in a direction parallel to the longitudinal axis of the handle. The claim of the patent also provides additional limitations further defining the handle of the sample collecting device which are not recited in claim 1 of the instant application. Since claim 1 of the patent “anticipates” the broader claim of the instant application, the claims are not patentably distinct.

6. Claim 1 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,387,058. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claim of the instant application is merely broader than that of the patent. Both the claim of the patent and the claim of the instant application recite a device for obtaining a sample from a body cavity including a plurality of elongated bristles of approximately uniform length connected to a handle to form a mop-like sample collecting member, where the bristles are disposed in a direction parallel to the longitudinal axis of the handle. The claim of the patent further recites an annular insertion shield that is not required by claim 1 of the instant application. Since claim 1 of the patent “anticipates” the broader claim of the instant application, the claims are not patentably distinct.
